Expertise

Private Wealth

Mathew has over 20 years' experience in real estate law. He regularly advises on acquisitions and disposals, leasehold matters, development projects and property finance.

Mathew acts for both local and international clients and has gained an excellent reputation for his commercial awareness and high level client service.

Mathew originally qualified as a real estate solicitor in England and Wales in 2002. He worked at an international law firm for 10 years, before moving to Bermuda to join Wakefield Quin as a senior real estate attorney. In the 11 years he has worked in Bermuda, Mathew has accumulated significant experience in all aspects of Bermuda property law and has built up an extensive client base.
